

Welcome to our celebration assembly!

NOVEMBER 29TH 2024

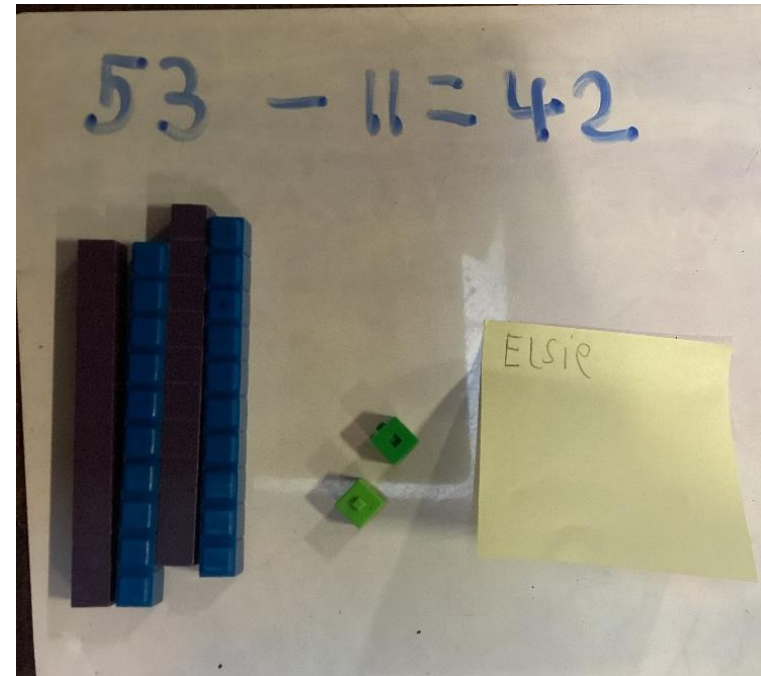

Our throwing and catching skills are improving each week!

Sunflowers

The Poppies have been enjoying reading, using practical equipment to subtract, and finding adjectives to describe trees!

Poppies

We have been very practical and active in our learning this week, especially using Base 10 to explore crossing tens in maths.

Bluebells

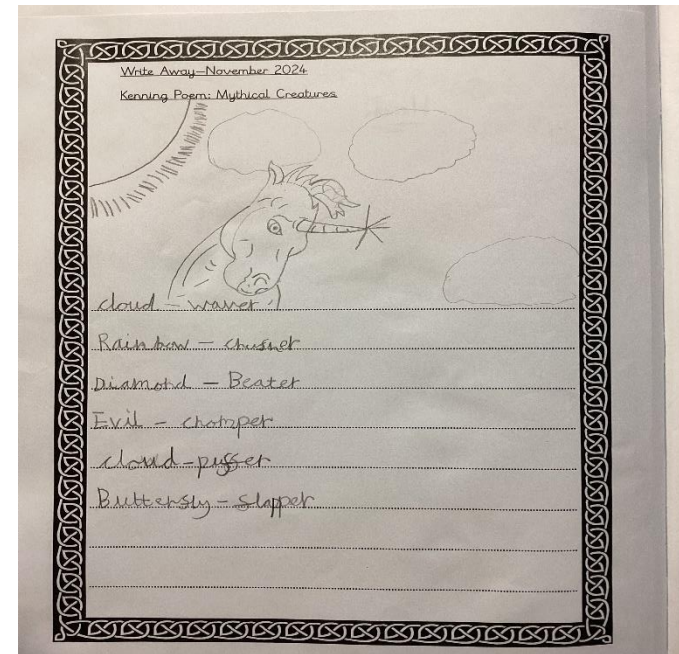

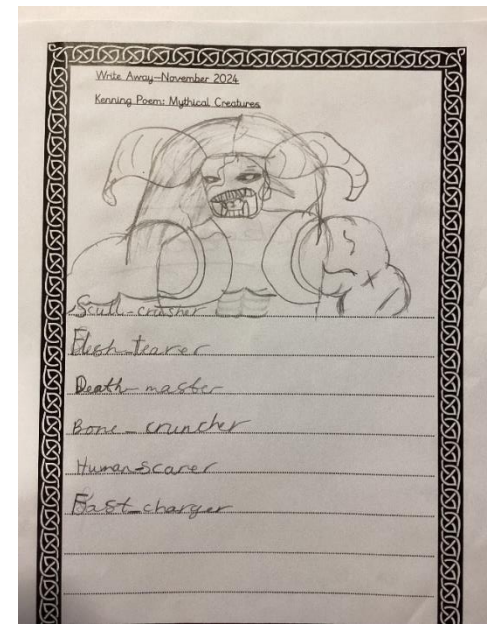

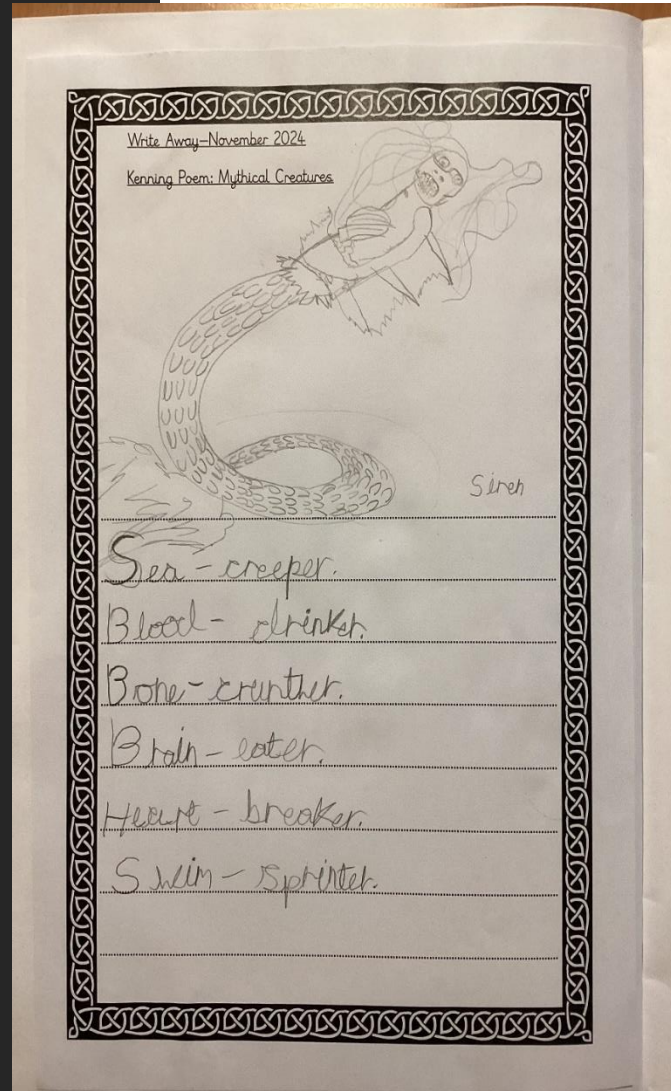

We had a lot of fun
this week
planning and writing our own Kenning poem.

We had to create a monster and then use it to write the poem. We had to make it as scary as possible.

Pines

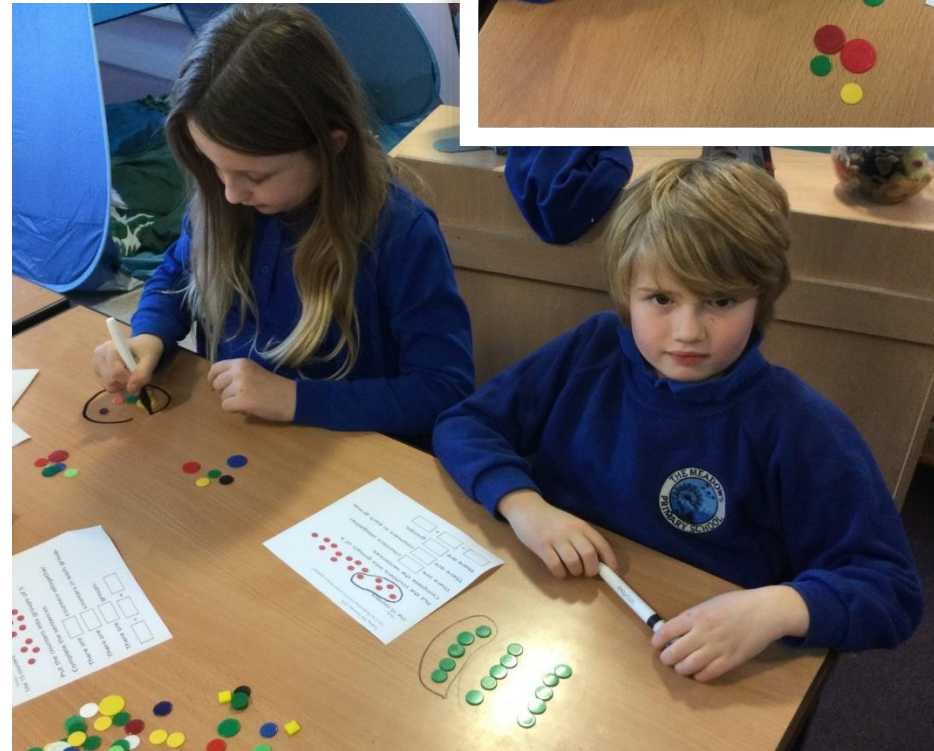

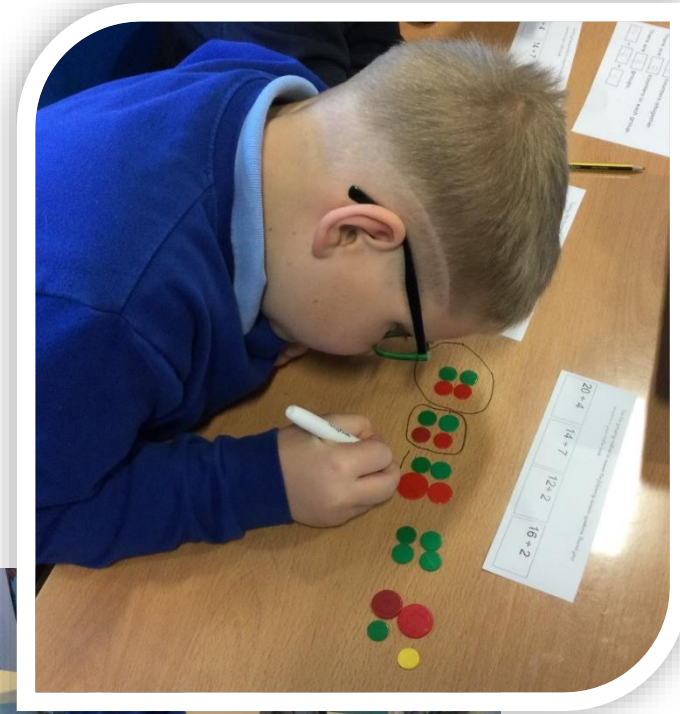

The Blossoms
have created some wonderful kenning poems
based on famous Greek mythological creatures. They are so creative!

Blossoms

We used the grouping method to answer division questions!

We had permission to draw on the tables!

We have started designing a sarcophagus for our DT project.

Next week, we are going to add a pneumatic system
so that the mummy inside
can be revealed.

Willows

In science, we created pan pipes to explore the effect of straw length on sound.

Sycamores

Hedgehogs

In English this week, we have been exploring different texts to decide who their audience would be.

Bunnies

We learnt that Banksy uses stencils to create his famous art.

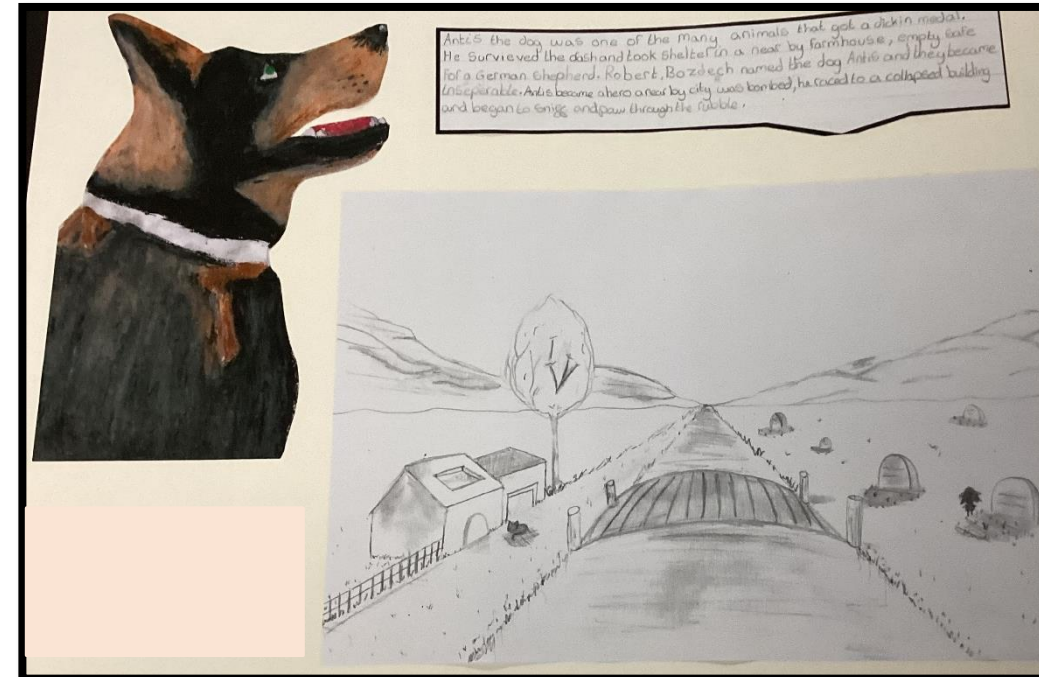

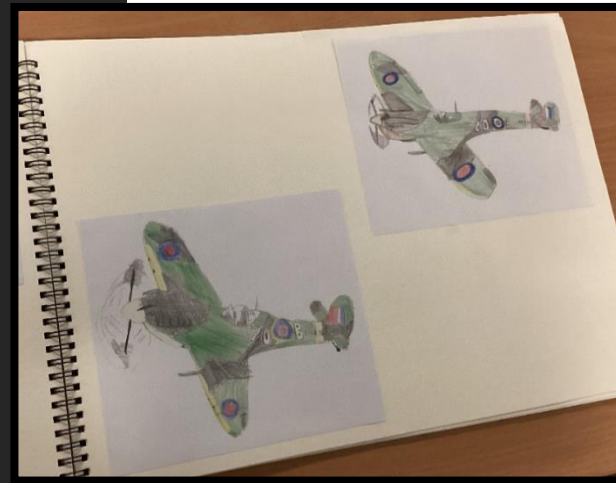

We had a go at creating our own stencils and using them to paint.

The Goats have worked super hard over the last couple of weeks to complete our sketchbook. This features all of our writing and artwork inspired by the Blitz and our trip to the Bomber Command Centre.

These will be on display at the IBCC for the next couple of weeks!

Goats

Antis the dog was one of the many animals that got a flick in the war. He survived the dash and took shelter in a nest by farmhouse, empty safe. For a German Shepherd, Robert, Bozdech named the dog Antis and they became inseparable. Antis became a hero as a dog by city was bombed, he raced to a collapsed building and began to sniff and paw through the rubble.

In science, we've been exploring the impact exercise has on our heart rate.

Chipmunks

Well done,
everyone!

Together, we make a great team!
